2 Payment under the Health Spending Account

Attach original receipts OR if this claim has been submitted under another plan, attach the original Explanation of Benefits from that plan and copies of the receipts.

Your Health Spending Account can be used for eligible expenses that qualify for the medical/dental expense tax credit under the Income Tax Act. This may include expenses not covered under an Extended Health/Dental Coverage or unpaid portion of medical/dental expenses that have been submitted to another plan. See your information guide for a complete list.

If you or any person for whom you are making a claim has coverage under another plan, you should submit the claim to the other plan first. This procedure is to your advantage because your Health Spending Account is only used to pay for expenses not covered by other plans. If you do not know whether an expense is covered by your regular plan, we recommend that you send it to the other plan first. After the benefits have been paid by the other plan, you can then submit the unpaid portion of that claim for payment from your Health Spending Account.
